1. List at least three conflicts that have developed and/or been foreshadowed among the characters in scene 3. Why are these conflicts dangerous for the people in the Secret Annex? What other additional conflicts do you predict might arise?

Choose one of the following two questions:

2. Describe Mr. Frank's reaction to the arrival of Dussel, and why he may have acted that way. Contrast that to Mr. Van Daan's reaction by describing his reaction to Dussel and his reasons for doing so. Explain which reaction you believe was the right way to respond, giving reasoning for your answer.

3. Describe Anne's relationship with her parents, using examples from the text to support. Then describe Peter's relationship with his parents, using examples from the text to support. Finally state whether you believe their relationships with their families are typical of a normal teenagers, and why.

Choose one of the following two questions:

4. When the play opens, only months have passed since Otto Frank was freed from Auschwitz. What do you think makes him return to Amsterdam and revisit the place where he and his family were captured by the Nazis? Would you do the same? Why or why not?

5. Mr. Frank tells Anne, “There are no walls, there are no bolts, no locks that anyone can put on your mind” (Goodrich and Hackett 357). What does he mean by this? Do you agree? Support your opinion with examples from your own experiences or knowledge.

Choose one of the following two questions (they are only two-part questions, and only require an “a, b” structure).

6. What do you think would be the hardest part of life in the Secret Annex: the fear of discovery, the need to keep silent for hours at a time, the sharing of cramped quarters with strangers, or some other aspect. Explain why you believe that would be the most difficult part.

7. If you were going into hiding (in modern day) and could only take as many items as you could carry in a single trip, what would you bring? (We will naturally assume that you will bring clothes and some food/drink items, so you don't need to list or explain those.) For each item, briefly explain why you would bring that.
